Office of Disease Prevention and Health Promotion Healthy People Communication Fellowship

Deadline: February 4, 2010

The mission of the Office of Disease Prevention and Health Promotion (ODPHP) is to provide leadership, coordination and support for disease prevention and health promotion activities, programs and policies. ODPHP leads the development and implementation of the Healthy People initiative, which provides a comprehensive set of national disease prevention and health promotion objectives. As an HPC fellow, you will work primarily on Healthy People 2020 communication, web and promotion activities. You will be exposed to policy development, collaboration and decision making at the highest levels within the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS).

Department of the Air Force Student Trainee (Contracting)

Deadline: February 10, 2010

The United States Air Force (USAF) is the aerial warfare and space warfare branch of the U.S. armed forces and one of the American uniformed services. The purpose of the USAF is to preserve the peace and security, and provide for the defense, of the United States, the Territories, Commonwealths, possessions and any areas occupied by the United States. Through this Student Trainee opportunity, the Student Career Experience Program (SCEP) offers valuable work experience directly related to the students' academic field of study. The program provides the student with progressive experience by integrating classroom theory with practical on-the-job experience. The agency may provide non-competitive conversion opportunity to a term or permanent appointment to those who successfully complete all required training and education requirements of the program.

Energy Information Administration Department of Energy EIA 2010 Summer Internship Program

Deadline: February 26, 2010

The U.S. Energy Information Administration (EIA), the Nation's premier source of independent energy information, invites qualified students, both undergraduate and graduate, to apply for a summer internship at our headquarters in Washington, D.C. In addition to gaining valuable quality work experience, EIA summer interns will have the opportunity to meet with senior-level EIA officials and congressional staff, as well as participate in several networking activities (including off-site field trips) that will greatly enhance their understanding of the energy industry.

Department of Homeland Security: Customs and Border Protection Federal Career Intern Program: Budget Analyst

Deadline: December 3, 2010

Discover a challenging and rewarding career with the Department of Homeland Security's Customs and Border Protection Agency, the sole organization responsible for securing the nation's borders. As part of our carefully selected, highly trained team, you will leverage state-of-the-art technology, innovative strategies and world-wide partnerships to protect our communities and defend our frontier. As a federal career intern within the Office of Finance, you will serve a two-year trial period, during which you will be learning the job and the organization. You will develop extensive knowledge and important skills through on-the-job training.
